NEW YEAR'S KILLING

Tennessee Men Meet Here In Saloon and Settle Their Troubles.

T. J. TAYLOR SLAYS C. KNIGHT Domestic Scandal Given As the Cause of Trouble By Slayer.

A scandal that had its beginning at Weaver's Store, Tenn., ended in a homicide in a saloon here Saturday night.

T. J. Taylor, aged 49, shot and instantly killed Claud Knight, aged 23. Taylor charges that he induced his wife to leave him and their three children several weeks ago.

A few minutes before the shooting occurred, Taylor had been talking to Police Lieutenant Hawkins, telling him his troubles. He went to the saloon from the police office, and had just had a drink but is said to have been sober, and was chatting with the barkeeper when Knight entered the door. Without a word, Taylor drew his pistol and began firing and at the first shot Knight reeled against a showcase, crying out, "Don't do that." Taylor fired twice more and Knight fell to the floor dying. One bullet struck him in the left breast, making a flesh wound, and the other entered just to the left of the backbone and ranged upward, probably striking the heart. Taylor walked a square to a store he was in the habit of patronizing and when he came out a policeman was standing in front. Taylor walked up to the officer and surrendered. When he reached the police office he remarked to Lieut. Hawkins, "I killed that man. I shot him three times." This was all the statement he would make.

Those who know Taylor say he is a man of excellent reputation. He had talked to some of his friends here in town previously about his alleged marital troubles. Mrs. Taylor is 38 years of age.

Knight's body was removed from the saloon to an undertaking establishment, where it was prepared for burial.

Knight's body was taken to Weaver's Store Sunday for interment. He was a son of Gus Knight.

Mrs. Taylor was in the city at the time the tragedy took place.

Taylor is in jail, but it is said can give bond for almost any amount.

People of the Lafayette neighborhood give Taylor a good reputation as a peaceful, quiet citizen.

Arthur Moore and Miss Ethel Warren, each fifteen years of age, of near Worthville, were married at Corydon, Dec. 30.

For the past six years, the Court has been spending $20,000 to $30,000 on new turnpikes. Last year it spent $25,000, the entire road and bridge fund being $35,000. This left only $10,000 with which to repair and keep in repair 600 miles of dirt roads and 200 miles of turnpike, an amount entirely inadequate.

TALK OF BOND ISSUE

For Building of Future Turnpikes In Christian County.

FISCAL COURT'S NEW POLICY Resolutions Adopted to Build No New Pikes Out of Levy For 1916.

"Be it resolved, That it is the sense of this Fiscal Court that no new turnpikes or metal roads shall be built or constructed out of the Road and Bridge levy for 1916, since the said levy is not sufficient and is now totally inadequate to do the necessary repair work on the dirt roads and old turnpikes and to carry out the present contracts now in force."

At a called meeting of the fiscal court held Friday the above resolution was unanimously adopted. This resolution was offered by County Judge Knight and it was promptly seconded and as promptly passed.

Furthermore a committee consisting of the entire court, together with County Attorney Smith and Road Engineer Dillman and Judge Knight, was appointed to meet with the Christian County Good Roads Association at some date to be agreed upon and consider the proposition of taking a vote on a big bond issue, the proceeds to be used for good roads. This meeting will be held as soon as practicable and if it is decided at that time that an election on a bond issue is liable to meet with favor, it will probably be called for some date in the early spring.

Kidney trouble is dangerous and often fatal.

Don't experiment with something new and untried.

Use a tested kidney remedy.

Begin with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Used in kidney troubles 50 years.

Recommended here and everywhere.

The following statement forms convincing proof of merit.

T. B. Redd, Cadiz, Ky., says: "Too frequent passages of the kidney secretions caused me annoyance and I had to get up five or six times during the night. I had an intense pain in my back and hips and I could hardly straighten after stooping. I was subject to dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me in a month and restored me to good health. I hope that other kidney sufferers will profit by reading my experience."

BASED ON EXPERIENCE.

Toin—I wonder why it is that Diggity has but little respect for old age.

Jerry—Probably because of his long acquaintance with boarding-house poultry.

ITEM ONE.

I hear, old man, that you are going to start housekeeping. What have you got toward it?

"A wife."

EVADING THE ISSUE.

"Has that borrowing friend of yours dropped out of sight?"

"Oh, no: he manages to keep in touch with me."

ITS NATURE.

"I suppose a prima donna's life is very exciting."

"On the contrary, it is more of a sing-song affair."

HIS CHIEF SOURCE OF TROUBLE.

"Have any trouble with your car?"

"Not much. And I wouldn't have any if I could get over the habit of taking the engine apart myself."

ANOTHER ONE OVER.

"What is all that cheering for?"

"That's a sign that somebody in the next room has just finished his after-dinner speech."

For Rheumatism.

As soon as an attack of Rheumatism begins apply Sloan's Liniment. Don't waste time and suffer unnecessary agony. A few drops of Sloan's Liniment on the affected parts is all you need. The pain goes at once.

A grave sufferer writes—"I was suffering for three weeks with Chronic Rheumatism and Stiff Neck, although I tried many medicines, they failed, and I was under the care of a doctor. Fortunately I heard of Sloan's Liniment and after using it three or four days am up and well. I am employed at the biggest department store in S. F., where they employ from six to eight hundred hands, and they surely will hear all about Sloan's Liniment. H. B. Smith, San Francisco, Cal.—Jan. 1915. At all Druggists.—Advertisement.

Aburd Medical Beliefs.

Even in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries there was a belief that dead bodies had medicinal virtues and mummies were obtained and ground to powder for making brews and broths and terrible decoctions. It was said that the mummies for this industry were obtained in Egypt.

A lazy liver leads to chronic dyspepsia and constipation—weakens the whole system. Doan's Regulets (25c per box) act mildly on the liver and bowels. At all drug stores: Advertisement.

Hopkinsville, Ky.

The Day After.
 'Twas the day after Christmas, and all thru the flat
 Every creature was moaning, including the cat.
 The grown folks and children all writhed in their beds
 With aches in their stomachs and pains in their heads.
 While out in the kitchen the dishes unwashed
 Explained in a trice that the cook had got sobered.
 All scattered about from front room to back
 Were the traces that Santa Claus leaves in his track.
 Here lay a doll, there a train of toy cars.
 A book and a box of most evil cigars.
 A cheap magic lantern, a bum smoking set.
 Pyrography tools and a queer tabouret.
 The mail man, unheeded, brought bills by the score—
 Neither I nor my wife would answer the door.
 We both lay reflecting upon the tough day
 When the rent man would call—just one short week away.

 Then out on the porch there arose such a clatter
 I climbed from the hay to see what was the matter.
 At the door stood a man so jolly and fat;
 Dressed in black clothes and a shiny silk hat,
 I knew in a minute, without any stall,
 That he was the doc on a hurry up-call.
 He entered the flat with vigorous strides
 And cheerfully talked of each one's insides.
 He doctored us all around and when he went away
 I knew I'd be busted for many a day.—Huntington, W. Va., Advertiser.

CAPT. STITES HONORED

Appointed To Membership Committee of Navy League of U. S.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Capt. Henry J. Stites, of Hopkinsville, Ky., has been appointed to the Membership Committee of the Navy League of the United States, and will help to represent that organization in his district in the active, aggressive campaign which it is carrying on in all parts of the country in behalf of adequate preparedness against invasion and disaster. He will co-operate with the members of the Navy League's state committee for Kentucky and will lend his energetic and enthusiastic support to the work undertaken to consolidate and organize the overwhelming sentiment of people of that state in behalf of measures of adequate preparedness. A special letter has been forwarded Mr. Stites by the Navy League, notifying him of his appointment.

The Navy League holds that this country's best defense lies in the three thousand or more miles of water which separates it from the nearest of its powerful neighbors. Should war ever be forced upon this country, the Navy League holds, its battles ought not to be fought by armes on American soil, but by trained fighting men in ships, far out on the ocean where destruction of life and property will be kept to a minimum, and the savage business of killing will be kept as far as possible from America's homes and shores.

To this end it has always advocated a navy second to none, which will be able to guarantee absolutely that no hostile army will be ever to effect a landing upon the shores of our country, and in this demand it believes it is backed by unanimous public opinion all over the country. The most effective testimony to the popularity of the cause of the Navy League with representative citizens all over the country is the manner in which its membership has increased by leaps and bounds within the past few months until at present its numbers upon its rolls more than 60,000 members.

The Navy League is the oldest and best organized of the National Defense societies. It was founded and chartered in 1902, and among its officers and members are Admiral Dewey, Theodore Roosevelt, Cardinal Gibbons, Rt. Rev. Philip Rhinelander and Dr. Lyman Abbott, while many of America's most prominent women are among the members of its Woman's Section. Its accounts are and always have been opened to inspection. The headquarters of the Navy League are in the Southern Building in Washington, D. C., and further information will be gladly furnished upon application to the Secretary.

SOLDIERS BETTING THEY WILL NOT BE KILLED.

London, Jan. 3.—Lloyd's is offering the risk of 3 to 1 that Ferdinand, King of Bulgaria, will not be on his throne June 1, 1916. The risk started at 20 to 1, but the turn of affairs in the Balkans drove it down.

Most persons who have taken cut policies on the Bulgarian here are Englishmen with business interests in the Balkans and Bulgaria. Their losses will be great if Ferdinand retains his throne and they are preparing for the minimum loss.

On the duration of the war, Lloyd's offers 10 to 1 that it will last beyond December, 1916. A new risk something like their Easter insurance against rain on new bonnets, is the one wherein the soldier bets with Lloyd's that he will not be killed. The risk, 8 to 1 against death, is said to be heavily patronized.

GERMANS USE GAS ARMOR

Mask Protects Respiration and Vaseline Saves the Eyes of the Soldiers From Vapor.

Paris Excelsior gives interesting details of German preparations for gas attacks:

"Every German soldier is furnished with a chloroform mask, which has the advantage of fitting exactly over the nose and mouth, without leaving any space for noxious fumes to penetrate. Inside the mask he places two wads of ordinary lint dressing folded six or seven times. When the alarm is given these wads are soaked in a saturated solution of hyposulphite of soda, or chalk water, which stops the action of the chloride by transforming it into hypochlorite, or chloride of lime. Each regiment is abundantly supplied with these articles. To save the eyes they have given up spectacles, which are not easy to fit. Instead, they simply put a piece of vaseline the size of a pea beneath the under lid. By rubbing gently the whole eye is covered with a protective varnish, which does not hinder the sight and saves the eyes perfectly."

VALUE OF DRAINAGE

Much Swampy Land May Be Made Quite Productive.

WORK IS ONLY FAIRLY BEGUN

Lands Too Wet for Profitable Production of Crops Should Be Drained—Improve Soil by Making It More Porous and Friable.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

By simple drainage much of the wet swampy farm land which cannot be cultivated in its present condition may be made productive. There is also a piece of cultivated land which is not producing what it could be made to do if it were properly drained. Indeed, according to the department's specialists, drainage in the United States is only fairly begun, and its immense possibilities are but little known. Farmers' Bulletin No. 524 of the United States department of agriculture discusses this subject in some detail.

Lands that are too wet for the most profitable production of crops, such as wet level land, low spots, and the dry subsols of flat areas on the summits of knolls, river and creek bottoms, and peat bogs, should be drained. Even uplands may often be drained with profit, especially hillsides subject to erosion or inclined to be "spouty." Indeed, drainage is profitable wherever it is necessary to the fullest use of the land. It is not uncommon for lands too wet for cultivation to produce, when drained, 60 to 70 bushels of corn or oats from one to one and a half bales of cotton to the acre. On much of the drained land the increase of yield is from 25 to 100 per cent, and by the increased yield and decreased cost of cultivation the value of the land is often doubled.

Improves the Soil.

Drainage improves the physical condition of the soil by making it more porous and friable. Thus stiff soils are made more easy to work. The roots of plants are given a greater feeding depth by the lowering of the water level and hence the ability of crops to utilize moisture is increased. Well-drained soils absorb more rainfall than undrained soils, thus decreasing erosion and damage by floods.

Drainage warms the soil. Heat from the sun acts directly upon the soil when excessive moisture is removed by drainage. This is noticeable in the North, where the planting season is from one to two weeks earlier on drained land than on similar land when undrained. The danger of damage by frost both in the spring and in the fall is reduced. Warming of the soil also causes the seed to germinate more readily, thereby giving a better stand of crops and causing the plants to grow more promptly.

Drained land can be plowed earlier in the spring than undrained land. Crops can be cultivated sooner after a rain, and if covered tile drains are used instead of open ditches machinery can be used to better advantage and the cost of cultivation decreased.

Health conditions are also improved by the drainage of swamps and standing water. The breeding places for mosquitoes are removed, with the consequent abolishment of malaria in the locality.

Practical System.

The most practical drainage system is one that is adequate, permanent, uses the least possible land, and is not a hindrance to cultivation. Tile drains which empty into either open or closed outlets most nearly provide such a system. By the open-ditch system much valuable land is occupied, the drainage is seldom thorough, and the ditches become filled and have to be cleaned out. Open ditches sometimes occupy as much as ten per cent and frequently five per cent of the area drained. Thus it is that tile drains, while more expensive to install, are generally the most economical in the end.

In laying out a drainage system, the outlet is the first consideration. On rolling or hilly lands channels have usually been washed out, although they may need to be straightened and cleaned out. On low, level land it is usually necessary to dig open ditches, and they should be straight and deep, since curves check the flow of water, while in a deep ditch water generally flows more rapidly and less vegetation is likely to be sent. The outlets should be deep enough to take care of the flow from branch drains, which may necessarily be placed low to secure sufficient fall.

Open ditches work well with a drop of four feet to the mile, although some, of necessity, have no more than one foot drop. In loamy soils subject to freezing the sides of the ditch should have a slope of 45 degrees, in sandy soils a greater slope, while in stony soils subjected to little freezing a less slope will do.

Outlet ditches should usually follow the natural course of the water, although efficiency and economy may necessitate diversion from the natural watercourse.

Use of Open Ditches.

When the ditch runs through a field, the earth should be leveled back from the bank, so that no more ground than is necessary will be lost from cultivation. When the value of the land is high, the open ditch should not be used where it is practicable to use tile. In the middle West tiles are large as three feet in diameter are frequently used, and, being covered over, they do not occupy tillable land or divide a field. Where properly laid, there is little danger of the tiles filling and practically no maintenance cost. Because water runs faster through tiles they can be much smaller than the open ditch. The latter, however, has an advantage in holding more water after a rain, though, perhaps, not carrying more. The farmer is in a position to judge for himself when it is profitable to use tile.

Fig. 2.—Same Field After Being Tiled.

PROFIT FROM ALFALFA ACRE

Greatest, Most Profitable and Productive Swine Forage—Test Made at Iowa Station.

By JOHN M. EVVARD, Chief in Swine Production, Animal Husbandry Section, Iowa Experiment Station.

Recently there was returned a profit of a little over $250 for the operations carried on an acre of alfalfa; the corn was charged at 60 cents, and the hogs sold for $7.

Now these are the returns for the happy combination of self-fed corn and an acre of self-fed alfalfa, taking young growing fattening pigs to the weight of 250 pounds, no charge being made for the alfalfa. Charge the alfalfa at $10 an acre and there remains $240 pork values (assuming no loss of pigs) over and above feed costs. Labor is arbitrarily assumed to be offset by the manorial residues remaining; of course a charge of $1 a pig labor could be charged and still leave for the acre's operation a net return of $206.

The alfalfa acre carried 44 pigs on the average from weaning to market, these pigs finishing at 250 pounds, fat and high-dressing. No alfalfa, of course, was left on the acre; it was all pastured. This is not the best practice but it shows what corn on an alfalfa acre will do when the corn as well as the alfalfa is pushed to the limit.

These pigs gained 1.46 pound a day during the entire grazing season of 140 days, requiring 387 pounds of corn fed for a hundred pounds gain, this costing $4.14 with 60-cent corn. The charge for alfalfa on the basis of a hundred pounds gain amounts to $1.12 (12 cents), making a total cost of $4.26.

After paying for the alfalfa and crediting all the profits to the corn, the net return per bushel was, with 97 hogs, almost a dollar, or exactly 98.5 cents.

But let us remember that alfalfa in itself will not net $250 on the acre, or corn alone 98.5 cents to the bushel when fed to 97 hogs.

It is the very happy combination of self-fed corn and self-fed alfalfa that does these things.

The cost of gains with 60-cent corn, and $10 alfalfa at $4.26 perhaps tells the story best—although it is well to bear in mind that after all is said and done in the swine forage story that corn and alfalfa are pre-eminently the most profitable corn belt doublet of economic feeds that it is possible to grow and fatten swine on.

Alfalfa is our greatest, most productive, most profitable swine forage and corn is our greatest, most productive, most profitable swine growing feed.

Why not plan the swine feeding with alfalfa and corn as the basal feeds?

Works of Art.

There will be an art exhibition held at the Carnegie Library, Saturday, Jan. 8th, throughout the day. The pictures displayed are a loan procured through the Federation of Women's Clubs and can only be had on that day. The Italian, English, Flemish, Dutch, French, German and Spanish schools are represented in this collection. Some of these pictures are rarely seen in Art Stores; others will be recognized as old friends. Artists that we would like to know better, such as Giotto, Giorgione, Bellini, Mantegna, will be shown, together with Van Dyke, Rubens, Titian and others.

A large crowd is expected to see these works of art and the members of the Magazine club will be present to welcome visitors. No admission will be charged.

Life is made up, not of great sacrifices or duties, but of little things, in which smiles and kindness and small obligations given habitually are what win the heart and secure comfort.—Sir Humphry Davy.

HOW TO SERVE LAMB

SUGGESTIONS THAT MAY BE NEW TO HOUSEWIVES.

Preferences of the Family Are, of Course, the First Things to Be Considered—Best Method of Utilizing the Broth.

"You know I said the other day that I had some good receipts for neck and breast of lamb." Mrs. Happy Homemaker opened her manuscript "cook book" and proceeded to read:

"The neck may be used for various kinds of stews. The neck cut in small pieces is boiled with onions, turnips,
and carrots, and when almost done
add half a cupful of flour made into a thick, creamy paste with milk. Let this boil with the stew for ten minutes.

"Or use this recipe: Put the pieces of lamb into a frying pan with melted butter, and turn until the pieces are a light brown; then pour into a stew
pot with two or three large tomatoes (or a can of tomatoes if the fresh ones are not in season), an onion, and a few carrots. When this is served it makes an appetizing addition to circle
the dish with boiled rice.

"The breast may be used as a roast with browned potatoes and vegetables,
and served with a sauce of tomatoes.

"But this is the way the family likes it best. Take the lamb bones, which the butcher will take off the forequarter in boning it for you, and to these add the breast, putting all into a pot to boil with one onion, one large carrot, a couple of potatoes for thickening,
and two tomatoes for flavor.

"When the breast is thoroughly cooked carefully take out all the bones so as not to break the meat. Press the meat between two large plates, with a weight on top so that the meat may be moled into an even roundness.

"This may be served cold with a garnish
of lettuce and cold vegetables,
with salad dressing, and is a delicious hot day luncheon dish. Or the mold may be cut into slices and fried in bread crumbs.

"The broth which is made from the liquor in which the breast has been cooked is very rich; add a little barley or rice and you will have a wholesome and ample supper for the little folks.

"In buying a shoulder of pork ask the butcher to bone it for you, then tie into a round roast so it will keep its shape. Rub well with salt and pepper, and a little thyme or sage, too,
gives a pleasant flavor, and roast in a medium hot oven. If you do not use a self-hasting roaster, the meat should be basted often. A shoulder of pork weighing eight pounds takes about 40 minutes to cook. This may be served with apples baked in the same pan, if an open roaster is used or with apple sauce."—Kansas City Star.

Non-Fattening Foods.

Many foods which are nourishing
do not produce fat. The two kinds which create fatty tissues are fats of all kinds, like butter, lard, drippings (food cooked in them), and the large group of foods classed as starches. If eaten in excess starch will be laid up in the body as superfluous or stored
fat.

Following is a list of nourishing
foods which will not produce excess
fat:

Light meats, like chicken, white fish, lean beef; all vegetables except potatoes, parsnips and other starchy kinds; fruit of all kind except bananas, grain or cereals, except oatmeal and rice; beans and cheese; milk, in small quantity, eggs.

Milk and eggs will fatten unless exercise is taken or the body is in a very run-down condition. Cocoa is a fattening drink also.

Chicken Truffles.

Chop the raw meat of a four-pound
chicken very fine; add four well-beaten eggs, one at a time, with one-third of a pint of thick cream and salt and pepper to taste. Cook in buttered timbale molds, garnished with truffles, and set in a pan of hot water in a slow oven. Cover with buttered paper.
Bake half an hour. Serve with this sauce: Two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, a cupful of chicken stock or milk, turned onto the broken volks of three eggs.

Grape Sago.

Wash one cupful of sago, and soak
it in three cupfuls of cold water for two hours. Cook till transparent and add one cupful of grape juice and one cupful of sugar. Turn into a mold and serve very cold. Currant jelly may be substituted for grape juice by thinning
a tumbler of the jelly with one cupful of boiling water.

About Roast Pork.

When buying a strip of pork to roast,
get your butcher to saw the long bone
on the top of the strip lengthwise instead of cracking it at each chop. When roast is done it can be taken off and each slice cut without any splintered bone.

Grape and Meat Salad.

After washing a bunch of white and a bunch of purple grapes remove the seeds with a sharp knife. Make nests of watercress on lettuce leaves and fill with the grapes and nuts. Serve with a French dressing.

To Reheat Rolls.

Roll either cold rolls or biscuits in wet paper, lay in a pan and let them remain in a hot oven until the paper escapes. They will then taste as if freshly baked.

Dread of An Operation.

N. Manchester, Ind.—Mrs. Eva Bashore, of this place, says: "I suffered female misery of every description. Two doctors attended me, and advised an operation. I lost weight until I weighed only ninety pounds. I dreaded an operation, and, instead, began to take Cardui. In a short time I gained 25 pounds, and feel as well as I ever did. Cardui, I am sure, saved my life." Cardui is to day used in thousands of homes, where it relieves pain and brings back strength and ambition. It is a woman's medicine, for woman's ailments,
and you are urged to try it for your troubles. Ask your druggist. He will tell you about Cardui.

Nearest Fixed Star.

Alpha Centauri is the sun nearest to the earth of all the fixed stars.
One of the most magnificent of the first magnitude stars even to the naked eye, the telescope reveals it all suddenly as two great masses of solar fire, the flames, red, yellow and blue, blown upward and outward to the right by the winds of the universe.
The great pair of rainbow flames appear to stand out like tangible objects in the depths of infinitely remote space many times larger than the naked eye stars. One of the two revolves about the other in a period of 80 years. It is one of the most stupendous and awful visions and the most absolutely beautiful that eyes have ever seen.

WITH COFFEE FLAVOR

VARIOUS PREPARATIONS THAT MAY BE RECOMMENDED.

Aside From Its Use as a Beverage
There Are a Number of Ways in Which Delicious Bean May Be Employed.

Coffee is a flavor always at the call of the cook, and one that can be relied on when fruits fail. The medicinal qualities of coffee are due to its aromatic essential oil—and it is that, of course, which gives the flavor. As the roasting brings out the flavor of the oil, the roasting should be carefully done. When using coffee for flavoring make it by percolating boiling water through the freshly ground beans.

Coffee Jelly.—Soak an ounce of coffee and boil until it forms a string
from the spoon. Stand the sauceman
in a dish of cold water until the
sugar begins to form on the sides,
and then work in a cupful of strong
coffee, pressing it against the sides
of the sauceman with a spoon. When
the mass granulates it is ready to use
as icing.

Coffee Cake.—Cream half a cupful
of coffee and two tablespoonfuls of sugar
together, and slowly pour it over two
egg yolks, stirring all the time. Strain
when cold and add two cupfuls of whipped cream. Pour into a mold and pack in ice and salt for three or four hours. Serve in tall glasses.

Coffee Icing.—Melt two cupfuls of sugar and boil until it forms a string
from the spoon. Stand the sauceman
in a dish of cold water until the
sugar begins to form on the sides,
and then work in a cupful of strong
coffee, pressing it against the sides
of the sauceman with a spoon. When
the mass granulates it is ready to use
as icing.

Coffee Cake.—Cream half a cupful
of coffee and two tablespoonfuls of sugar
together, and slowly pour it over two
egg yolks, stirring all the time. Strain
when cold and add two cupfuls of
whipped cream. Pour into a mold and
pack in ice and salt for three or four
hours. Serve in tall glasses.

Coffee Pudding.—Beat four eggs thoroughly and add five tablespoonfuls of sugar
of sugar and half a teaspoonful of salt.
Gradually add two cupfuls of boiling
milk and half a cupful of hot coffee.
Pour into a pudding dish and bake in a pan of water in a hot oven. Serve very cold.

Coffee Creams.—Mix strong coffee
with confectioners' sugar, a little vanilla,
a tablespoonful or two of cream and the white of an egg.
Add enough sugar to make a stiff cream,
mold into balls and put a walnut meat
on each side of each ball.

Variety Important.
Variety is most important in arranging weekly menus. Beef may be one time served as a pot roast, another time as a roast. Gravies should be cooked in as great a variety of ways
as the likes of the family admit. Vegetables are always to be had in great variety and may be cooked more ways than one. Of course, it is not wise to insist on dishes that are not liked simply for sake of variety.

There is delight in eating well-served food. Hence study the little details that tend to give neatness and effect in serving. A bouquet of cut flowers or a growing plant gives a bit of gayety to the meal.

Jelly Roll.
Four eggs, well beaten, one cupful of sugar, one cupful flour, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, one-half teaspoonful of soda and a very little salt. Beat well. Spread thin in a large pan to bake. Takes perhaps 15 minutes. As soon as baked trim off the two long edges with a sharp knife, spread the cake with any kind of jelly and roll
in a napkin while warm.

Peach Jelly.
Soak one-half cupful of gelatin, one cupful of sugar and one dozen of halved peaches for one hour, then pour over a cupful of boiling water, press all through a strainer and stir over the fire until gelatin dissolves, then set aside to cool. When ready to harden stir in a cupful of whipped cream with a pinch of soda. Put into mold and set on the ice.

Southern Batter Bread.

Two cupfuls white Indian meal, one cupful cold boiled rice, three eggs
well beaten, one tablespoonful melted butter, two and one-half cupfuls of milk, one teaspoonful salt, pinch of soda. Stir the beaten eggs into the milk, the meal, salt, butter, and last of all the rice. Beat well and bake quickly in a shallow pan. Recipe may be halved with success.

Improved Broom Cover.

Broom covers can be made more useful by setting a double ruffle of the cotton flannel, fuzzy side out, between the sides. This protects the covers so that they wear much longer, and is also very helpful in reaching the corners when dusting wall and ceiling.

Preparing Fowls.

After plucking and singeing fowls, dampen them slightly, sprinkle with flour, rub gently all over and wash in cold water.

John S. Gleason, of McCracken county, died a few days ago of paresis, aged 42 years. He was born in Tennessee and was received at the state hospital six years ago.

SULLINS COLLEGE BURNS

At Bristol, Va., Causing Loss of $150,000 Insured.

Bristol, Va., Dec. 31.—Sullins college, a Methodist institution here for girls, burned to the ground at 1 o'clock this morning. The fire started on the upper floor and spread to all parts of the building so speedily that the firemen were unable to continue it.

The loss is $150,000, with partial insurance.

The girls, who represent 20 states, were away for the holidays. Members of the faculty and the few remaining girls escaped without difficulty. Numerous pianos and the girls' wardrobes were saved by citizens.

Peru yearly produces 2,200,000 pounds of tobacco.

SPECIAL TO WOMEN

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine illus it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. NEW PASTOR'S FIRST YEAR

Rev. J. Newton Jessup Celebrates His Anniversary at Christian Church.

REVIEWS THE YEAR'S WORK

Tells of His Impressions of City and Surrounding Country.

Sunday was the first anniversary of Rev. J. Newton Jessup at the First Christian Church. In remarking upon the occasion Mr. Jessup said among other things:

"I wonder how many of you had thought that this is the anniversary of my pastorate? One year ago I began my ministry here, and this is the beginning Sunday of the second year. One year ago I stood before you in fear and trembling. You had never seen me. It is a fine thing for me that you never had. You had taken me on faith. It took an extraordinary amount of faith to your bargain."

We have spent the year in getting acquainted—a little bit. "It is said the first year of married life is the most trying. The newly married couple spent the first year in "finding each other out;" in adjusting themselves to one another; in accommodating themselves to each other's temperament, habits of thought, ways of looking at things, peculiarities, idiosyncrasies, etc.

"This adjustment is necessary, and if they get through this ordeal safely, they will likely get all right the rest of the way. The man says (to himself, of course), sometime after the honeymoon has waned, "Well, well, I thought she was an angel. I believe after all she is just flesh and blood; with a big preponderance of just human."

"And many a woman has said in the course of the first year."

"Goodness gracious, if I were only out of this scrape, I would never get into another one like it."

But still, if they really love each other, these barriers will not prove insuperable, and in time there will be the fullest accord and peace.

"So we spent the first year in getting acquainted, and I think we have not had our "first quarrel."

"In the adjusting process we were both amateurs. Neither I nor you had had much experience in that process. You had not had such an experience in eighteen years; I had only one such experience in sixteen years. No doubt we were both bunglers in the adjusting business. "Well, we have managed "to adjust" some how or other; by main-strength-and awkwardness as we used to say; and, on the whole have done fairly well. Let it go at that.

"There are some things to which I am glad to bear abundant witness. I like Hopkinsville. I like this country. Nature has been prodigal in her bestowments. A fairer or more promising country one could scarcely wish. Here abundance and comfort and the simple life reign, and if one could add these to the boon of contentment, he need not want more.

"There are hundreds and hundreds of lovely people in Hopkinsville. They are christian; their ideals are christian; they are refined, cultured. It is a pleasure to know them and be associated with them. If one could come to know these people intimately through a number of years, I know he would come to love them.

In the year just closed two hundred and one people have been added to the church; ninety-nine of these by baptism. The average of those baptized was eighteen and one half years. Thirty-five have moved away, leaving a net gain of one hundred and sixty-six. The resident membership is now nine hundred and seven. Money raised by all departments of church life for all purposes, $9,191.55. Contributed to missions and benevolences $2,926.14. The pastor has preached here and elsewhere 118 times; made 15 miscellaneous addresses; conducted 24 funerals; solemnized 7 marriages; attended numerous conventions, institutes and meetings for religious work and reform movements.

Texas has 700,000 qualified voters this year.

ALTON PACKARD

Lyceum Attraction No. 3 at Tabernacle To-night.

It is related of Alton Packard, the cartoonist, who is here to-night, that he one day called, in company with his little daughter, upon his friend, Mr. Charles Dana Gibson, ushered into Mr. Gibson's studio where the great illustrator was busily at work upon a magazine picture. Gibson was complaining that he could not find suitable models for the picture, and then catching sight of the cartoonist's little daughter he said, "There is my model," and, forthwith the little lady was posing and her likenesses delineated by Gibson appeared the next week in Life.

Psyche of Capua.

Edmund von Mach in his "Handbook of Greek and Roman Sculpture," says that the marble Psyche of Capua, "so-called," was discovered in the ruins of the amphitheater in Capua, in the middle of the eighteenth century. The lower part of the nose has been restored and the entire figure has been polished to obtain a smooth surface. The figure seems too mature to be a Psyche and may be an image of Aphrodite. "Judged as a piece of architectural decoration this Psyche is perfect," says Von Mach. "Studied close at hand it is very disappointing. The body is indicated by graceful outlines, but there is no fine modeling anywhere."

IN MEMORY.

"There is a Reaper, whose name is Death,
And with his sickle cleaveth,
He reaps the bearded grain with a breath,
And the flowers that grow between,

It was not in cruelty—not in wrath that this Reaper visited the Howell community at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning, Dec. 26th, 1915, and took from us one of our best and most beloved citizens, Mr. Will A. Stroube.

Mr. Stroube was born June 7th, 1856, was 59 years of age. He was the third child of a family of seven children. He was married to Miss Kate White July 21, 1886.

To this happy union eight children were born. Three died in their infancy, and five survive him.

Mr. Stroube was a man of many admirable traits of character. His gentle, loving father heart, his deeds of love for others, and his deep spirit of sincerity, won for him many friends. He was a member of Liberty Christian church.

On account of illness of other members of the family, no services were held at the home. Rev. T. D. Moore, his former pastor, conducted brief services at the grave, after which the body was laid to its last resting place in the presence of many sorrowing friends, who expressed their sympathy by words, actions and beautiful floral designs.

Mr. Stroube had been in bad health for several years, but he had been confined to his bed only a few days. He is survived by his wife and five children, Dr. Stanley, Wiley, Sam, Willie and Katie, a sister, Mrs. J. B. Lander, of Madisonville, a brother, Mr. John Stroube, of Oak Grove, and the brothers of Mrs. Stroube, to whom he had been as a father.

How sad this home will be since he has been taken from them, but God knows best.

The memory of this devoted husband and father will bring great comfort to the sorrowing family. God had permitted him to live until his youngest child was almost thirteen years of age and he was also permitted to see his son, the pride of his heart, graduate from the medical college and begin his life's work.

May the splendor of the sunset grow more beautiful in contemplating the meeting in the home of the redeemed. We shall meet him in the eternal city, where sickness and sorrow ne'er come.

"On the joy of meeting,
In that home so fair,
With his glories all to share,
In that happy Eden land,
We shall walk the golden strand,
With the shining angel band,
Sorrowing family we sympathize
with you, in your dark hours of life.
May God bless you and abundantly supply His ministrations of love.
Remember that "The eternal God is thy refuge and underneath are the ever-living arms."
